COME AND SEE US.

HEADQUARTERS REP. STATE CENTRAL COMMITTEE,
MILWAUKEE, June 15, 1884.

The Republican State Central Committee has opened convenient and commodious headquarters on Wisconsin street, near the postoffice, in Milwaukee. All republicans and especially those of our own state, are cordially invited to call when in the city. All republican papers published in the state, and many of the leading journals of the country, will be kept on file. Come and see us. H. A. TAYLOR, Chair.

If Cleveland's barrel was a little larger, his chances would be greatly improved.

The tail of the old ticket" is doing some violent flopping in Indiana. He thinks the tail in '84 should become the head in '85.

The war-hoop is already coming from Tammany against Cleveland. Chief Kelly's scalping knife will be an important factor in the campaign.

If the democrats want to make sure of New York and Indiana, why don't they save the old ticket again—Hancock and English? Both are willing.

The democratic papers are chuckling about certain republican papers having to eat crow. Well, republican crow is a better dish than democratic turkey.

The tattooing still continues; but when Washington, Lincoln, and Grant were tattooed, Blaine should hardly expect to escape the attention of the scandal-mongers.

It is wish and prayer in New York between Flower and the democracy. Flower has the democracy by the nose and the democrahy has Flower by the pocket book.

The democrats talk of sweeping New York, but Senator M' or says Blaine will come down to Harlem Bridge with the largest majority over given to a republican candidate in that state.

"We only trust," says a democratic paper, "that Heaven itself may inspire the democratic national convention with supreme wisdom in this crisis." Wisdom, supremacy or moderation, is not in the power of heaven to "cast into the democratic party."

When a democrat thinks about the nomination for the presidency, it makes him think of joining the defeated squad composed of McClellan, Seymour, Tilden and Hancock. To be numbered with them is not one of the happiest lots that can befall a public man.

The B. R. O. red book for the democratic national convention is "out" and it is as interesting, as convergent, and as valuable a compound of political information as was the little book issued for the republican convention. The book can be secured by sending a 2-cent stamp to C. K. Lord, Baltimore.

The Manhattan Illustrated Monthly for July comes with a rate bill of fare. It contains several splendidly illustrated articles, and among them is "Re-spectation of the American Stage," with interesting engravings from oil portraits. The Manhattan has been wonderfully successful, and this success is based on the fact that it is one of the very best magazines in this country.

The chief points of the democratic doctrine:

No free voting.

No honest counting.

No civil service reform.

A tariff for revenue only.

No exclusion of pauper labor.

All the offices for democracy.

No protection of home industries.

A solid south against a solid north.

Anything on earth to beat the republicans.

No more money for the navy or commerce.

A good many want to know what will be the effect of the New York Times and the Harper's Weekly bolting the republican nominations. When George Stephenson was experimenting with his first locomotive away back in 1825, an English gentleman thought that could not get on the railway track and either delay or stop the locomotive, and he asked Mr. Stephenson, "But what will be the effect if a cow should get on the track?" Stephenson quickly answered, "It would be bad for the cow." So in this case it will be bad for the Times and the Harper's.

Mr. Grundy says that Seward & Logan are the first nominees of the republican party for vice president since Andrew Johnson who has not been a widower. Schuyler Colfax was a widower when nominated, and met a sad end after his election. Wilson, Wheeler and Arthur were each widowers. Claine and Logan were nominated on a Friday, and so were Hayes and Wheeler. Moreover, Senator Logan is living in the same house in Washington where Mr. Wheeler lived when nominated for vice president. Yet, and the democrats have almost exactly the same majority in the house of representatives that they had in 1876, and have not had so large a one before since March, 1879.

A ticket has at least been found that possibly might beat Blaine and Logan, and here it is from a democratic standpoint:

Thomas F. Bayard can carry Massachusetts against Blaine.

William W. Eaton can carry Connecticut against Blaine.

Grover Cleveland can carry New York against Blaine.

Joel Parker can carry New Jersey against Blaine.

Samuel J. Randall can carry Pennsylvania against Blaine.

Allen G. Thurman can carry Ohio against Blaine.

Thomas A. Hendricks can carry Indiana against Blaine.

So to make democratic success sure, they must have a ticket composed of seven men which would draw in 132 votes from the north. But as the democratic convention will not nominate the seven, nor any one named among them, it is safe to conclude that the democrats will not carry any of the states mentioned!

THE ANTI-SOPHISTACY OF WEST POINT AND ANNAPOLE.

Mr. Albert Davies, of Janesville, has been appointed to a cadetship at the United States naval academy at Annapolis by Congressman Wiurus, after an examination by a committee composed of R. W. Burton, Dr. J. B. Whiting, and Horace McElroy.

Of late years there has been a growing bitter feeling between West Point and Annapolis, and congress, from the fact that professors at these institutions absolutely oppose the will of congress and make it impossible for a worthy young man without social influence, to pass the required examination. A poor young man from Minnesota was recently appointed to Annapolis by his congressman after passing a rigid examination by a special committee in his own state. He was sent to the naval academy, where he was confronted with the examining board of professors. His examination was a glory and a triumph for the friendless young man, but in an unfortunate moment he missed a well deserved question in geography, and he was sent home with blighted hopes and a spirit crushed by disappointment.

Congressman Detford, of Colorado, has pointed out the standing disgrace of these institutions in a speech he made before the house of representatives. He related another instance similar to the one from Minnesota. He brought a boy from Colorado, over 2,000 miles, to enter Annapolis. He had been thoroughly examined by the governor of the state, by the chief justice, and by the president of the state university, and had passed a splendid examination, but got a hold of him, and because the boy failed to pass a particular phrase, he was told to go back to his home.

That grand old gentleman and legislator—General W. T. Sherman—who believes in giving young men a chance, said the other day that he standard in the military and naval academies was so high that no one could get into them who was not a graduate of Harvard or Yale. It is a fact, that a few years ago when this subject was under discussion in the house of representatives, it was said there was not a single member of congress at that time (excepting J. H. Seward, president of Amherst college) who could pass the required examination to enable him to enter either one of the academies. When this condition of things exists, there's about as much of a chance for a man to swim the wide Atlantic as for Niagara there is for a young man to enter West Point or Annapolis, unless he has more social or political influence than he can be found some of the shrewdest politicians in the state.

Tammany beaten in the State Committee.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., June 16.—The first question considered by the state central committee was the representation to which the New York factions were entitled in the state convention. Several addresses were made on both sides in behalf of Tammany and the Tammany Democracy. Ex-Senator Grady made a powerful and eloquent speech.

The bill was then voted on the motion of Senator Grady to place the representation of the New York factions as follows: County Democracy, 30; Tammany, 30; Irvington, 12. The motion was lost—10 to 10. Among the prominent members who voted for the motion outside of New York city were Col. Faulkner and ex-Mayor Murphy of Troy. Chairman Manning voted against the motion.

The contesting delegations from Rochester were both admitted to the roll of the convention, each having half a vote. This was an unusual and unprecedented step, which favored the Purrell delegation only. Manning again voted in the minority.

William H. Smith, of Clinton, was chosen temporary chairman of the convention, and the committee adjourned.

AT SARATOGA SPRINGS.

Great Attendance at the New York Democratic Convention.

A Correspondent's Comment on the Work That's Going On—Its Influence at Chicago—Cleveland Land in the Lead.

SARATOGA, N. Y., June 18.—The town is literally packed with people, the main streets are almost impassable, and the hotel corridors and lobbies are also crowded. Mr. Flower is very busy receiving his numerous friends at his suite of rooms in the United States hotel, where short consultations are held, which keep this candidate very busy. The Tammany men who were here talking together seemed to agree in the impression that will not give in.

Samuel J. Randall can carry Pennsylvania against Blaine.

Allen G. Thurman can carry Ohio against Blaine.

Thomas A. Hendricks can carry Indiana against Blaine.

So to make democratic success sure, they must have a ticket composed of seven men which would draw in 132 votes from the north. BULWER LYTTON'S BRIDGE.

Where it Touches the Shores and the Great Columns in Midstream.

"What a beautiful bridge between old age and childhood is religion. How intuitively the child begins to pray and worship on its knees, and how quickly it grows up to be a man, the old man turns back to poster and worshiping himself again side by side with the infant."—See E. Belver Lytton's "Bridge."

"Strange Story."

Yet, between so distant abutments as the Atlantic and the Pacific, there is a bridge through which the wild waters rush and roar in wind and dissolution. Prayer and worship make the mechanism of the world go round, and almost seem to hold the structure together. God's will is best exemplified in the life of a child. He is the only one who has placed under their charge. Neither the child's trustful "Our Father," nor the old man's "God bless us," can be compared with the strength of a man's trust in his Maker. They endeavored to reach heaven, 20 miles distant. A tempest arose and the boats were separated. The cold was intense. One boat reached land after eight days at sea. That man was in an exhausted and thoroughly exhausted condition, their only nourishment being sucking ice.

It is feared the other three boats, containing seven men, are lost. Only seven men were lost on board the Chieftain, and great anxiety is felt for her fate.

Death of Miss Maggie Brown.

Miss Maggie Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Brown, No. 62 Washington street, first ward, passed away to her last sleep, on Tuesday evening, at seven o'clock, aged 25 years one month and six days. She fell a victim to consumption, and in the morning of her young life, death, "the shadow, cloaked from head to foot, who keeps the keys of all the crowds," claimed her as his own, and Maggie Brown sleeps the sleep that knows no waking this side the judgment day. The deceased on, joyed the acquaintance and friendship of a large circle in the community, all of whom deeply sympathized with the afflicted family and relatives. Blanchard, of this city.

—Every available man, woman and child, who were not afraid to get down in the mud, were at work to-day setting out tobacco plants. Several fields contained as many as twenty-five and thirty hands, all down putting in the little weeds. At an early hour this morning growers were in the city offering extra wages for help, and were satisfied with anybody who was willing to try their hands. —Mrs. Abby Holleran is now bestowing her choicest blessings upon the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad company. Last evening as the 5:50 passenger train crossed St. Ma's avenue, Abby's put-farrow cow was on the track parting of green herbage next to the ties, and was as unimpassioned of the scrapping which it was as though it was in the middle of a good garden of green corn and cabbages at midnight. The whistle sounded, and the cow—with the pilot coiled with the poor animal, and the engine being the more powerful of the two, the cow faced very bad—in fact she was found a few minutes later on the brink, several feet from the track with a broken leg, and otherwise severely bruised. Thereupon the animal was killed and dressed, but just what disposition is to be made of the carcass we did not ascertain. Quis a crowd gathered at the scene of the accident last night to see the cow and bear the conversation.

—The reason housekeepers have such biscuits when Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder is used, is because all the available carbonic acid is set free in the oven, and the bubbles of the gas they are formed in the dough are prevented from escaping by its glutinous nature, thus in this manner such delicious results are obtained.
